Meeting of Sports Club.

The annual meeting of the Stony Plain Amateur Athletic Sports Association was held on Thursday last, in the office of the Secretary, with President J. W. McCulla in the chair.

A statement of accounts was submitted by the Secretary-Treas., from which it appears that there was a cash balance of $60.48 on hand, besides assets amounting to $455.48.

After the reading of this document, much satisfaction was expressed by the directors present, and, on motion, the accounts were adopted as read.

When the question of membership fees for the 1922 season came up, considerable discussion took place. Several speakers urged that an effort be made to increase the membership. It was finally agreed that a universal fee of $2.00 should be charged, which will admit any member to take part in the games of football, baseball and tennis, and to free admission to the Dominion Day sports.

It was resolved that there be a general canvass for new members.

The following were appointed members of the Board of Management for the current year:

Hockey—Ed Outway.
Baseball—J. W. McCulla.
Football—Dr. Outway.
Tennis—J. McEachern.

The campaign committee to increase the membership comprises Messrs. Lundy, Rossell and McEachern; and a very earnest endeavor will be made to bring the membership up to the 200 mark.

And Now the Health Inspector

In keeping with the times, last week was another special week in town—Health Inspection week. A visit was made by Provincial Health Officer Jas. Butterfield, who camped here for several days.

The various places in town were gone over, and the officer had very little adverse criticism to make, the meat stores and restaurants being reported in practically first-class order. Mr. D. T. Davis' slaughter house in the east end of town was inspected and passed as O. K. The slaughter house to the north of town and outside its limits, was visited, and several recommendations made for improvement in conditions at this place.

The new slaughter house half a mile west of town recently constructed on up-to-date principles for the butcher firm of Zucht & Wood, is said to be the best of its kind so far seen.

Another recommendation made was for the elimination of tie-posts on all streets, for the sake of general cleanliness.

A suggestion was made by the Inspector that a place be set apart in the town as a feeding ground for the teams of visiting farmers. This suggestion should meet with the approval of townspeople and the farmers, and should receive some attention from the Board of Health.

Some Sound Advice

In this column last week emphasis was laid on the absolute necessity of every business man and artisan, in fact of every individual developing their old-confidence as a necessary first step towards solving the present business depression and consequent lack of employment. There is need for confidence by all, in themselves, in our business men and institutions, in Governments, and in our great wealth of God-given natural resources.

Coupled with a return of such confidence there is need for the abandonment of present-day ideas of softness and ease and a renewal of an old-time determination to work. If there is to be a return of prosperity and good times, it must be preceded by the old willingness and energy to work—a return of those days when everybody was busy from morn till night and found real pleasure in their work.

Shortly after his accession to the Premiership of Saskatchewan a few weeks ago, Hon. C. A. Dunning delivered several addresses before public bodies, and the keynote of each address was the need for confidence and the substantial grounds which existed to justify such confidence.

Hon. T. C. Norris, Premier of Manitoba, in an address to the Credit Men's Trust Association early last month, laid emphasis on the same need, and on the necessity for unremitting labor on the part of all citizens.

If any men in the West today are in a position to size up the weakness of the present situation; if there are any men who are confronted with heavier responsibilities and greater difficulties and problems than other men; if there are men who might with reason feel a lack of confidence in the future, it is those men who as heads of Governments have had to deal daily with the scores of complaints and grievances arising out of the hard times of the past year. If these men can look to the future with confidence, and are willing to devote their best energies and all their time in bringing about that betterment which is to be had if it is gone after in the right spirit and in an intelligent, determined manner, then there is no reason why others should be faint-hearted or lukewarm in effort.

In his address to which reference has been made, Premier Norris made an important point which is deserving of the serious consideration of all workmen in cities and towns. If, he said, they desired to know the reason why so many of the brightest young men and women left the country for the city it was this: In the city men agitated for an 8-hour day and a 44-hour week. Every time they clipped anything off the working day or increased the pay by one cent or they created a condition which affected the farmers. Their men were anxious to come to the cities. If they shortened the time for earning money they increased the time for spending money. Every advantage of that kind cost something more in the production of food. Living became more expensive. More men and women were added to the ranks of the workers in the cities, with an inevitable increase in the number of unemployed and added acuteness to the problems which the city worker had to contend against.

Premier Norris expressed the opinion that the extreme labor man was thus standing in his own light when he advised a 44-hour week, because he took from the ranks of the producer on the farms and added to the ranks of the consumers in the cities. The balance must be kept equal to maintain the ability to bring in new money, and new money was that which was produced from the soil itself, and it was only to the extent that that new money was produced that steady and profitable employment could be provided for the city artisan, store clerk and office employee. Not less work, but more work, was the crying need of the times.

Another point urged by Premier Norris was that, along with a renewal of confidence and a determination to work hard and faithfully, there was a very great need for economy. In this connection he said: "The majority of wage earners and lower salaried men are living right up to the mark every month; indeed, a large number of them are living one month ahead of their salaries. If we can turn them around and get them to live one month behind their salaries for the next few months, getting them away from the effort of living beyond their salaries, and a determination to make the efforts of every person."

Summed up, Mr. Norris' conclusions as to the remedies to apply to present conditions, are: All citizens must develop more confidence. They must be industrious. There are too many persons who do not wish to work more than eight hours a day. Some people can afford to live in ease without work, but they are not many. If persons are not industrious they cannot succeed. They must practice economy. They can save enough money to get one month ahead of their salary, and they can easily do it if they make up their minds. They would find it was just as easy to live one month behind their salary as it was to live one month ahead of it if they would but make up their minds to do it. There must be industry and economy and with these would come optimism, confidence and prosperity.

Patrol Forest Areas

Fleet of Flying Boats to be Used in Northern Manitoba

A fleet of five flying boats will likely be employed in Northern Manitoba during the coming summer to patrol forest areas for the detection of fires. Government agents who pay the annual treaty monies to the various Indian bands scattered throughout remote parts of the province will also travel by airplane, and thus will be able to accomplish in five or six days the work which formerly required several weeks.

After spending some time here, it came upon her suddenly that she loved Canada, the big Canada that had seemed so unfriendly at first. Read the opening chapter.

Under Soviet Rule

Slaves to a Harsh and Really Unintelligent Bureaucracy

In Soviet Russia there were to be no masters, or, in other words, every one was to be a law unto himself. The madness has worked itself out, and now all men are slaves to a harsh, impractical and really unintelligent bureaucracy, and subject want has replaced plenty. We have been supplied with ample warning, which the sinister activities of Communist agents in this country, very busy just now, cannot cloak. Though there are at present, unhappily, no signs of a settlement, we still have faith that reason and good sense will prevail. The country has won one war at a heavy cost, and it cannot afford repeated assaults on its economy, although it might seem when every effort should be directed to making good the ravages of the late struggle. —London Daily Telegraph.

Saskatchewan Butter Gets First Place

Dairy Industry is Making Rapid Strides in Recent Years

In a Dominion-wide competition in which six creameries of each province took part, Saskatchewan butter has been awarded the first place. Samples were shipped to a cold storage plant in Montreal and there scored by official graders. Scores were taken during the entire year 1921 and resulted in Saskatchewan being given the highest place among the provinces. Saskatchewan's butter industry has developed very rapidly in recent years.

For Better Roads

Spend $1,570,000 on Roads and Bridges in Saskatchewan

According to announcement made by J. C. Gardiner, Saskatchewan Minister of Highways, approximately $1,570,000 will be spent on roads and large capital bridges in the province this season. The Legislature appropriated $2,035,932 at the last session for public improvements.

This expenditure will be apportioned as follows: Roads constructed under the Federal aid scheme, $600,000; large steel and concrete bridges, $120,000; main market roads, $550,000.

It is estimated that a sum of $120,000 will be required for large bridges of permanent type, viz., reinforced concrete bridges of arch or beam type, or steel trusses on concrete foundations. These bridges will be located on main lines of travel serving some market center.

About $800,000 will be required to complete the contracts entered into last season, and those contracts which will be called for this spring for the construction of provincial highways under the Federal aid scheme.

Miss Gowsell comes highly recommended to us from the Department. She has already been highly successful in her work in various parts of the Province.

School Board Meets.

The local School Board held its regular meetings Friday night, with Mr T. J. Hardwick presiding.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Reports were read on the van driving and attendance during the months of March and April, and also on the additional fire insurance ordered, and which has been effected.

The Secretary reported the receipt of a further grant of $282.50 from the Dept. of Education.

The new school van, to replace the one destroyed by fire, is expected to arrive this week, and will be put in service.

A letter was read from the Workmen's Compensation Board, re the two employees of the school board who come under the Act.

Trustee Goetz made a motion regarding the protection of the school sleighs during the summer months; and an effort will be made to arrange with the directors of the Agricultural Society to have these stored in the big horse barn on the Fair Grounds.

Some discussion took place on the question of the new school site; after which a number of accounts were passed and ordered paid.

'Murphies' Cheaper than Ever

The potato market still continues very dull, and with the season so far advanced as this, dealers are of the opinion that no improvement can be expected. A few carloads are being shipped from Edmonton, at prices which net the growers 26c a bush. These odd shipments make practically no impression on the 250 carloads in storage in the district waiting for a market, and a large quantity of these will be fed to hogs.

In Stony Plain district, one big grower has been disposing of his spuds at $5.00 a double box load, at an average of 10c a bu.

The price received on shipments to the U.S. leaves nothing when the freight is paid. With freight, commissions and a duty of 25c a bu., it costs 72c a bu. to ship potatoes to Minneapolis, and the price quoted there last week for No. 1 Whites was $1.35 per 100 lbs., or 81c per bu.

The demand for certified potato seed is fairly good, says the Bulletin. At prices ranging up to 85c a bu. most of the Edmonton District growers have been able to dispose of their surplus.

Meeting of Parks Board.

A meeting of the Parks Board took place Monday night, and it was again decided to offer for sale Manitoba Maple trees at a price of 20c to 35c according to size, and they do well after transplanting. The work of lifting is left to Mr. Willie who has sole charge and no one else is authorized to interfere with trees or shrubs on the Fair grounds. It is due to the efforts of the Parks Board, of which Mr. Donaldson is chairman, Mr. Foster secretary, that the Fair grounds have been transformed from rough prairie to their present state, and the thanks of the entire community are due that body for their consistent and self-sacrificing labors. The citizens are asked to co-operate with the Parks Board in their efforts to beautify the town as well as the Fair grounds. It is the hope this year to plant more perennials and commence on the raising of such trees as Mountain Ash, Lilac, Caragana and other rarer trees, with the object of supplying to the community at such low cost as will make it easy for everybody making his home surroundings more beautiful. The citizens can help this year by using Arbor Day for a little tree planting round their own homes.

MY CANADA

—BY—
ELINOR MARSDEN ELLIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

Winnipeg,
June 2nd, 19—

Had any one a year ago told me that I should ever be reduced to the necessity of keeping a diary in which to record my woes I would have refused to believe the prophecy—I, Elinor Marsden Elliot, healthy, happy, and moderately good-looking! And just here I may confess that the aforesaid Elinor is, popularly supposed to be rather strong-minded, simply because she has reached the mature age of twenty-five without finding a husband necessary to her well-being.

Mary Arnold tells me that I must drop my roundabout mode of expression if I wish to find listeners in this busy country, so perhaps I had better go back a few months and begin at the beginning of my story instead of in the middle of it. Mary also says that all my observations should be prefaced with the explanation, "I am English, you know." On my pointing out to her that she also is English, she retorted, "Not on your life! Canadian for mine!" have remarked that she is more than usually lavish in her use of slang when she is speaking to me; she is a dear girl, however, and I am sure that she would allow no one else to say, or in Canadian, "string" me as she herself does.

Well, I am English, you know, and a few months ago, upon attaining my twenty-fifth birthday, I received, as a small legacy, the bequest of a maiden aunt. "This aunt, by the way, made provision in her will that, in the event of my marrying before the age of twenty-five, the hundred pounds a year was to go to a Dogs' Hospital in London!" One of Father's carities—he is really awfully fond of dogs—tried to divert the money to this worthy object, but, as Mary says, "not for mine."

Ever since the Arnolds visited us in England three years ago I have longed to see Canada. And Mrs. Arnold invited me to spend a year with them; and she promised mother to take good care of me if I were allowed to go; but as I had already been taken care of for twenty-two years, that prospect did not appeal to me. I wanted to go pioneering on my own responsibility, and of course Mother and Father would not consent to such a plan. Imagine, then, their consternation when I called on family council the day after my last birthday and informed them of my intention to go to Canada, with their consent or without it!

Mother cried. Father took his glasses off, wiped them carefully on the bit of cambric he carries in his waistcoat pocket for the purpose, put them on again, and then said in his own kind way, "Well, my dear we'll talk it over." Ralph, aged twenty-two, winked solemnly at Helen, eighteen, and remarked to the world in general that I was afraid that my mother would go to the lawyers if I stayed within reach of Arthur—Arthur being curate. Helen had seemed to be on the verge of following Mothers example, but Ralph's non-committal general restoration, so I went on to tell them of the plans I had made.

I intended to go to the Arnolds' home in Winnipeg, and from there to look for a situation as working companion for a farm. Then, when I had gained a fair amount of experience, I would buy a small place of my own and go to for poultry-farming—far away from curates and mothers' meetings. Quite an ambitious programme for a girl who had never been out of England, was it not? But I longed for a complete change; I never was a "daisy" in my life, and Helen plays that part much better than I do, perhaps because her god-father is a bishop. My godfather, an eccentric old bachelor who once aspired to Mother's hand, and who invariably supports my periodic rebellions against Mrs. Grundy.

After all, I think the greatest surprise of the day was mine, for the time Father and Mother agreed to let me try my wings. I have always suspected that in the bottom of his heart Father sympathized with my desire for a broader outlook, but the only way in which the poor dear man could ever show his feeling was by allowing me to study Latin and Trig. with the pupils he had to look after. Aunt Josephine died and left us her money—peace to her ashes! Mother, however, while as she also could be, is decidedly mid-Victorian in her ideals. Since I grew up she has at all times and seasons paid and maintained me in the most glowing colours, and I firmly believe that only her conservatism prevents her from petitioning for a new clause in the Lottery—"From all strenuous-minded women, feminists and suffragettes, Good Lord, deliver us."

One day she went so far as to point out to me that I was tempting Providence by refusing three offers of marriage when I had been privileged to receive more than my proportionate share. She had been perusing an appalling recondite of women over men in the British Isles. Perhaps I was tempting Providence, but I think I was justified. The first offer was from a retired Anglo-Indian with a good pension and a bad liver; he wanted a nurse-housekeeper. The second was from an old pupil of Father's, a dear boy—but two years younger than I. The third was from Arthur, the fourth, fifth and sixth also; he will have a little time say if sunny uncle and cousins die, but he wears low collars and has no sense of humour. So what could a poor girl do?

We were very busy for the next few weeks. It seems to me as I look back that all my time was spent either in the shops or in the sewing-room; but at the last I had one lovely long week in which to say goodbye to every man, woman, and child in the village. I never realized before to what an extent Winnipeg had contributed to the population of North America; my address book was full in no time, and I innocently promised to look up people in New York and Norway House, Prince Rupert and Halifax.

I shall follow a time-honoured custom and draw a veil over the parting with my family. I can still feel the lump in my throat, and still hear the perfectly idiotic answers I made to Ralph's equally idiotic questions.

I presume my ocean voyage was like all every other ocean voyage, and therefore need not be described. "Dear Arthur" aunt's sister-in-law, or some such creature, crossed with me. Her presence was a great source of comfort to Mother, I believe, but I, suffering from a combination of homesickness and seasickness, would much rather have been alone.

"Alone, alone, all, alone,
Alone on the wide, wide sea!
And never a saint took pity on My soul in agony!"

(All sentimental young ladies who keep diaries have poetical quotations in them—in the diaries, I mean—and this seemed so appropriate.)

"Yes, Elinor dear, you are a most fortunate girl—my aunt, please—dear Arthur has always been a comfort to his friends. He never caused his mother's moment's anxiety—and the small box of capsules—he could repeat the whole of the Catechism before he was six years old—my aunt, dearest, no, not that one, the lavender with white trimmings."

We parted at Montreal, and I was so overjoyed that I gave a dollar, my first Canadian expenditure, to a convalescent Salvation Army lass.

When I asked Mary if I should preserve for posterity the record of my impressions from the moment my foot first touched Canadian soil, she told me that on no account must I make such a mistake as make the east of Winnipeg was of any importance. Of course it was Mary who planted in my fertile mind the seed that produced this diary—I am really proud of that sentence; living in "the breadbasket of the Empire" seems to improve my literary style.

While I was dressing for dinner on the night of my arrival in Winnipeg, I must confess that I shed a few tears. Mary discovered their traces, and after administering consolation in the comical elder-sisterly style she affected—Mary is twenty—she advised me to invest in a diary. "You are sure to be homesick at times," she said, and I can assure you that there is no more certain relief for that worst of all diseases than to write down your inmost feelings. When I was away at school I used to write the most mournful letters possible—the only way I can "wing" salt water out of you know—address them to Mother, and then post them in the kitchen bin for weeks, but I felt a whole heap better."

On the whole her advice seemed to be worth following. And—who knows?—perhaps my grandchildren will be glad to read my chronicle!

On reading over what I have written, I feel as if it had been prepared for someone to read. But as I had no particular person in mind as I wrote, my imaginary confidant must be someone who has never yet been seen. Rather a pretty fancy, that, one quite worthy of a young person who keeps a diary!

Mrs. Fowler Gains Twenty Five Pounds

Esteemed Winnipeg Woman Is The Very Picture Of Health Since Taking Tanlac, Declares Husband.

"I've got every reason to be satisfied with Tanlac, for it has restored my wife's health and she has actually gained twenty-five pounds in weight," said George J. Fowler, of 624 Cathedral Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"About three years ago, she had a bad attack of dyspepsia. Her food would lie like a lump of lead in her stomach and the gas that formed fairly made her gasp for breath. She was very weak and thin and got worse as the months went by. Finally her health broke down completely.

"But when she started on Tanlac, the way she picked up was astonishing. Now she has completely regained her strength, and is the very picture of health. We both have the greatest faith in Tanlac, and recommend it whenever we get a chance. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops burning, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no rest for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

Lloyd George Dwells On Political Dangers That Confront Europe

Genoa.—Premier Lloyd George has drawn an alarmist picture of Europe in addressing the British and United States press representatives he declared that the object at Genoa was to clear up the political differences which were full of menace. He compared Europe to seething racial lava, which, like the earth's crust, was seeking a proper level. This adjustment was full of perils. He emphasized that Europe must take cognizance of hungry Russia, which could be equipped by an angry Germany.

"The world must recognize the fact," the Premier said, "that Russia and Germany combined control over two-thirds of the people of Europe. Their voices will be heard, and the Russo-German treaty is the first warning of it."

As proof of the danger, he cited the fact that there was no frontier line from the Baltic to the Black Sea, including the Rumanian, Galician, Polish and Lithuanian frontiers which had been accepted.

"I wish America were here," Mr. Lloyd George exclaimed. "Some people think we want the United States for some selfish purpose. This is not true. We want America because she exercises a peculiar authority; her very aloofness gives her the right to speak."

"America could exercise an influence no other country could command. She could come here free and disinterested, and with the prestige which comes from her independent position, she would come with the voice of peace."

"But America is not here; so Europe must do her best to solve the problems in her own way."

Mr. Lloyd George gave it as his opinion that the disorganization of Europe would affect the entire world, including the United States. He was amazed at people who ignored the portentous fact facing Europe today. Unless Europe is re-organized, in other words, unless the Genoa conference succeeds in arranging a pact, his confidence that it will not in his younger men present, Europe would again welter in blood. "We triumphed in the war," he said, "but our triumph will not last for ever. If our victory develops into opposition, if vengeance will follow, just as Germany's action which started the war was followed by vengeance."

"We must be just and equitable and show strength; we must realize that Europe is not a dead letter and that storms are arising which we must deal with. We had hoped that the end of the Great War meant the end of brute force, but unless Europe's problems are solved, there is no assurance that force has given way to right."

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N.S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N.S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows:—"I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do any housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely recovered. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our

May Float Loan Within Canada

Possibility That Government Will Make Another Domestic Loan Issue

Ottawa.—The possibility of the next Government loan being floated in Canada was foreshadowed in a report made by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, to a delegation representing the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, which waited on him for the purpose of considering the question of further issue of loans.

The recent financing in New York has supplied the present needs of the Government and it is understood that there will be no immediate further borrowing.

Mr. Fielding intimated, however, that the maturing obligations of the Government were large, that at no distant day further borrowing would be necessary, and that his desire was that then the conditions would be such as to permit the floating of a domestic loan.

No Restrictions on Grain Shipments Montreal

Montreal.—It was stated at the Board of Trade here, in reply to assertions by shipping men as to undue restrictions being made on shipments of grain, which diverted grain traffic to other ports, that there were no longer any such restrictive regulations and that the rules made for the port warden have been so amended that there will in future be no difficulty in the matter of bulk grain shipment from Montreal.

London.—In the House of Commons, Lieut-Col. L. C. Amery, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Admiralty, moved the second reading of the Empire Settlement Bill, the object of which is to make better provision than is the case at present for furthering British settlement in overseas dominions.

Col. Amery stated that the bill was intended to give effect to resolutions passed in conference with the dominions last year. He acknowledged that the dominions' present restrictions were necessary owing to their own labor conditions.

Two schemes are now submitted—first, assisted emigration, and second, land settlement development.

The overseas settlement committee, Col. Amery said, is now of the opinion that not more than one-third of the passage money should ordinarily be granted free to an emigrant.

The experience of our own country and of the dominions has convinced us that the capacity of the dominions to absorb any really large immigration depends strictly upon the opening up of agricultural resources," Col. Amery said. "Therefore, direct settlement of men on the land will constitute the economic regeneration of the Empire." Consequently he attached greater importance to the land settlement development scheme than assisted emigration.

It was not proposed to spend more than £1,500,000 in the present year, Col. Amery pointed out, but the normal expenditure was fixed at £3,000,000, of which about £1,000,000 would be required for assisting emigration. To this the dominions furnish another £1,000,000. Col. Amery estimated the annual emigration at something between 60 and 80 thousand—one thousand persons to begin with, and a considerably larger figure eventually.

If the repayment of the advances was added to the fund for fresh assistance. The remaining £2,000,000 of the United Kingdom's settlement fund would be available for assistance to those who settled on the land and developed it. Probably about 3,000 heads of families as farmers might be settled for a loan expenditure of £1,000,000, Col. Amery said, but block schemes might yield larger results.

Possibility That Government Will Make Another Domestic Loan Issue

Ottawa.—The possibility of the next Government loan being floated in Canada was foreshadowed in a report made by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, to a delegation representing the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, which waited on him for the purpose of considering the question of further issue of loans.

The recent financing in New York has supplied the present needs of the Government and it is understood that there will be no immediate further borrowing.

Mr. Fielding intimated, however, that the maturing obligations of the Government were large, that at no distant day further borrowing would be necessary, and that his desire was that then the conditions would be such as to permit the floating of a domestic loan.

No Restrictions on Grain Shipments Montreal

Montreal.—It was stated at the Board of Trade here, in reply to assertions by shipping men as to undue restrictions being made on shipments of grain, which diverted grain traffic to other ports, that there were no longer any such restrictive regulations and that the rules made for the port warden have been so amended that there will in future be no difficulty in the matter of bulk grain shipment from Montreal.

London.—In the House of Commons, Lieut-Col. L. C. Amery, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Admiralty, moved the second reading of the Empire Settlement Bill, the object of which is to make better provision than is the case at present for furthering British settlement in overseas dominions.

Col. Amery stated that the bill was intended to give effect to resolutions passed in conference with the dominions last year. He acknowledged that the dominions' present restrictions were necessary owing to their own labor conditions.

Two schemes are now submitted—first, assisted emigration, and second, land settlement development.

The overseas settlement committee, Col. Amery said, is now of the opinion that not more than one-third of the passage money should ordinarily be granted free to an emigrant.

The experience of our own country and of the dominions has convinced us that the capacity of the dominions to absorb any really large immigration depends strictly upon the opening up of agricultural resources," Col. Amery said. "Therefore, direct settlement of men on the land will constitute the economic regeneration of the Empire." Consequently he attached greater importance to the land settlement development scheme than assisted emigration.

It was not proposed to spend more than £1,500,000 in the present year, Col. Amery pointed out, but the normal expenditure was fixed at £3,000,000, of which about £1,000,000 would be required for assisting emigration. To this the dominions furnish another £1,000,000. Col. Amery estimated the annual emigration at something between 60 and 80 thousand—one thousand persons to begin with, and a considerably larger figure eventually.

If the repayment of the advances was added to the fund for fresh assistance. The remaining £2,000,000 of the United Kingdom's settlement fund would be available for assistance to those who settled on the land and developed it. Probably about 3,000 heads of families as farmers might be settled for a loan expenditure of £1,000,000, Col. Amery said, but block schemes might yield larger results.

Do You Keep a Diary?

The heroine of our new serial story wanted to jot down her first impressions when she visited Western Canada for the first time after leaving her home in England, so she kept a diary. Well kept diaries often reveal the most intimate thoughts of the diarist in a very interesting manner. Miss Elliot was no exception and if you read the story, "My Canada," which will be found in another column you will be more than repaid for the time spent in perusal.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are as thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenantable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Enlarging Grain Capacity

Work Starts on Extension of Elevator at Fort William

Work on the extension to the North-western Elevator situated on the upper reaches of the Kaministiquia River is now well under way. This is to cost in the neighborhood of 500,000, and will give an additional storage capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. The structure, it is expected, will be completed in time to handle the 1922 crop.

Strangled with Asthma is the only expression that seems to convey what is endured from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond measure. Where all was suffering there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely cleared. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA

Caused by Starved Nerves Due to Weak, Watery Blood

People think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve of the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease is the same, and the remedy to be effective, must be the same. The pain of neuralgia, whether it is of the face, head, or whether it affects the face and head, is caused by starved nerves. The blood, which is the main source of nourishment to the nerves, for some reason no longer does so and the excruciating pain is felt in the cry of the nerves for food. The reason why the blood fails to properly nourish the nerves is usually because the blood itself is weak and thin.

When you build up this blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, you are attacking neuralgia, sciatica, and kindred diseases at the root. The value of these pills in cases of neuralgia, shown by the experience of Miss Leah M. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N.S., who says: "A few years ago following an attack of measles, I was left in a badly run down condition. I was weak and very nervous and had no appetite. A doctor was called in and gave me medicine, but it did not help me. My blood was thin and my hands and my feet were always cold. Then to add to my misery I was attacked with neuralgia, from which I suffered greatly. I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and did not care whether I lived or not. I was in this deplorable condition when I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was some time before I could notice any benefit from the pills, but before a half a dozen boxes were used there was no more pain. They were helping me. Then I got six more boxes, and before they were done I was once again in good health and am now strong and healthy. I shall always feel grateful for what the pills have done for me and urge all weak people to give them a trial."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Increase of Suicides

Growing Complexity of Our Modern Life is Given as Cause

The Save-Life League has issued a report on suicide for the year 1921. The league officials have definite information of 12,000 suicides, and they estimate that at least 8,000 occurred which were not reported to them. The report declares that suicides were 25 per cent. more numerous in 1921 than in 1920, and contains the following observation:

The growing complexity of our modern life, the feverish unrest, crimes, divorce, blarney and questionable dress and other things have caused deranged nerves, depression and less self-control.

The suicides reported include "10 editors, 70 well known writers, 40 college students, 83 school teachers, 21 clergymen, 57 judges and lawyers, 7 mayors, 93 bankers and 88 presidents of large business concerns."—From the N.Y. Independent.

Indian Head Nursery

Shipments of Seedlings Will Be Very Heavy This Year

The shipments of tree seedlings and cuttings going out this spring from the Dominion forest nursery station at Indian Head, will be among the largest in the past five years. The kinds sent out are chiefly Russian poplar, willow and caragana. They are used solely for planting shelter belts on prairie farms. Since the nursery was established, about sixty million seedlings and cuttings have been distributed to prairie farmers.

Omi Suchanite!

Some two score representative men of town and country met Saturday evening last to bid adieu to Mr. Stuart, the popular bank manager. Songs, recitations and speeches helped pass a pleasant evening. A presentation was made to "D.A." on behalf of his friends here, and he responded in his usual genial manner. One of the many interesting features of the entertainment was the "trio on the piano" given by Ben and Dick and Bill; this number was arranged as a quartet, but there didn't happen to be enough room on top of the piano for all four. Another feature was the "Yankee Circus," in which quite a number of trained and untrained performers took part. A few of the latter acquired "souvenirs" as pleasant mementoes of a happy evening happily spent.
